DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "said session" in line 4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

- Regarding to claim 3, the first and second devices are identified by a temporary session IP proxy address, which is not understood how the devices can identify by IP proxy address. The devices are assigned a temporary address for each of party not identify by IP proxy address for parties.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "said session" in line 8. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 12 recites the limitation "said session" in line 8. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 16 recites the limitation "said second network" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claims 2-4, 6-11, and 13-19 are depended on claims 1, 5, and 12 therefore they are rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-6, 9-12, 15, and 20-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roy (US Patent No. 6,081,513) in view of Civanlar et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5828844).

- With respect to claims 1-2, 5, 9-12, 15, and 20-23, Roy discloses a system and method for providing multimedia conferencing services (voice, data and/or video) over an ATM network interconnecting IP customer premises (see network illustrated in Fig. 1).

The system of Roy also provides quality of service IP telephony session over the ATM network (see col. 7, lines 1-24).

The claimed limitations are also found included in the system of Roy such as a calling party (1 - 1), a called party (1 -4 or 1-5), an IP telephone network (customer premises L I and U), an ATM network (ATM WAN 8);

a first device (router 3 - 1) for providing bi-directional translation between IP media traffic and ATM traffic (col. 4, lines 24-3 1), which is connected to an ingress switch of the ATM network (block 6 in Fig. 1);

a second device (router 3 -3) for providing IP and ATM traffic translation (col. 4, lines 24-3 1), which is connected to an egress switch of the ATM network (block 6 in Fig. 1);

translating IP media to ATM traffic and ATM to IP (Fig. 1) and an intelligent control layer for establishing a virtual circuit of the ATM network on per session basis (MMB 7 and col. 3, line 45 extending to col. 4 line 5).

It is also noted the telephony session between the called party and the first device is secured by providing IP addressing to it (IP layer of Fig. 2 and block 73 of Fig. 3, where each protocol data unit being encapsulated with an IP address), and the virtual circuit over the ATM network is assigned with temporary addresses (e.g. VPIs/VCIs known in ATM).

Roy fails to teach whereby a data path for the telephone session is secured by the use of proxy addressing. Johnson teaches the proxy server for protecting information, which exchanges between devices and provider to specify client characteristics or desired service attributes (col. 8, lines 3-15). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to implement the proxy scheme into Roy for securing in the communication network and establish QoS guarantees for the communication.

- With respect to claims 4, 6 & 24, Roy discloses all the limitations of the claimed invention as set forth above, except means for assigning temporary proxy IP addresses to the calling party and the called party. It is well-known in the art such technique can be implemented by employing the use of Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol (DHCP). For instant, Johnson discloses systems and methods for multiple voice and data communications, which teaches the use of DHCP, which allows assigning temporary IP proxy addresses (see col. 8, lines 3-13). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to adopt the known teaching of DHCP in the system of Roy for providing IP address assignment, thereby enhancing the system with higher capacity and security

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 7-8 and 16-19 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6, 9-12, 15, and 20-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
